

Sleeves and plugs with splice

Sleeves and plugs with splice

Plug and sleeve joints are one of the most common in PVC pipe installation. They consist of joining two sections of pipes using a socket and a sleeve. This type of splicing is quick and easy to make, does not require special tools and guarantees a strong and airtight joint. They are ideal for plumbing projects or irrigation systems, where quick and safe installation is required.

